Hello Sammy,

Warm greetings from the University of Brighton.

I hope you and your family are all well and staying safe during this global pandemic.

I am writing to you to share this letter from the UK Government’s Minister of State for Universities, Michelle Donelan. In this letter, the Minister reinforces how important our international student population is to the UK and of course this sentiment is shared by all of us at the University of Brighton.

The Minister also provides you with additional reassurances from the UK government during this unprecedented time including explaining how the UK Government is working with all UK universities to ensure support for international students whether they remain in the UK or have returned to their home country. The letter also provides additional guidance that your visa status will be handled with consideration to the current situation to ensure that you are not negatively impacted.

In the meantime, please see our own resources and FAQs found on the university website. We have the following dedicated web pages specific to your international status and services to help you study remotely:
