University of Brighton

THE STUDENT VOICE

The University values the views and contributions of its students to help it monitor and enhance the quality of the student experience. Student feedback also helps the University recognise excellence in teaching and learning.

How you can tell us about your experience?

There are many opportunities for students to tell us about their academic experience whilst studying at the University. This includes feedback about your experience of a course and your experience of our support services.

The main formal ways in which we collect and respond to student feedback is detailed below.

There are also many less formal ways for students to provide feedback including; School Open meetings, forums, Course Leader meetings with course reps, completion of comment/suggestion forms, or simply through the day-to-day interaction between students and staff. Students are always encouraged to talk to their tutors as soon as any concerns arise.

The University of Brighton Students’ Union works in partnership with the University and each School to communicate the various forms of engagement students can participate in. As part of its Education and Student Experience Campaign, the SU runs a Listening Campaign with each School, Student Voice weeks during the academic year and encourages Schools to have Academic Societies.

We have mechanisms at each level of the University to hear and respond to the student voice. Annex 1 shows how issues raised by individual students can be heard at the course, School and University level.

1 Student surveys

Whilst at the University, students are asked to complete a number of surveys to provide evaluation and feedback about the modules and course studied. These include:
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name of survey</th>
<th>Who completes this?</th>
<th>When is it completed?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>University Welcome Survey</td>
<td>This annual survey is for new undergraduate students to provide feedback about their first four weeks of term.</td>
<td>On-line at the end of October</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>National Student Survey (NSS)</td>
<td>This annual sector-wide survey is for final year undergraduate students to provide feedback about their experience of their course overall.</td>
<td>On-line during Feb-April</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Postgraduate Taught Experience Survey (PTES)</td>
<td>This annual sector-wide survey is for all postgraduate taught students to provide feedback about their experience on their course.</td>
<td>On-line during April-June</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Postgraduate Research Experience Survey (PRES)</td>
<td>This biennial sector-wide survey is for all postgraduate research students to provide feedback about their experience, including their supervision experience.</td>
<td>On-line during March-April</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Module Surveys</td>
<td>All students taking a module are asked about their experience of the module during the module.</td>
<td>On-line at the midpoint of the module</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Course and module surveys ask students about:

- the teaching, assessment and feedback on the course/module;
- the academic support and organisation and management of the course and;
- their overall satisfaction with the quality of the course.

There is also an opportunity to provide free text comments about any aspect of module or course.

More information?

Information and promotion of student surveys is through Studentcentral, posters, emails and module/course tutors.

Course representatives and School Academic representatives encourage their peers to complete surveys. The Students’ Union promotes student surveys through campus roadshows and information on their webpage.
2  Student representation

Student representation is an important way of fostering the student voice at the University. Each School has a Student Engagement Champion who supports Course reps and School Academic reps in their School and works in partnership with them to develop student engagement activities and encourage students to share their views and ideas.

| Course representative  | Elected by peers for each year of a course at the beginning of the academic year | The course rep scheme is coordinated by the Brighton Students’ Union in partnership with the University of Brighton. There is on-line training for course reps, a dedicated course rep conference and School level meet and greets. Information about your course rep is published on Studentcentral in the course area.

Course reps are an essential link between students and staff. They provide a key contact point for staff to discuss the outcomes of student surveys and support the development of actions.

If there is an issue or concern affecting your study and experience contact your Course rep. The course rep is a member of the Student Staff Forum and can raise issues on behalf of other students with the course team. Course reps also contribute to the discussion about the academic provision and student experience on courses at the Student Staff Forum. Course reps then provide feedback to students in their cohort on the outcomes of issues raised on their behalf.

The Student Staff Forum considers the annual course monitoring report and action plan, and reviews progress on actions during the year.

School Academic Organiser | The School Academic Organiser is a paid role by the SU. Students can apply for positions from the SU website | School Academic Organisers work with the Brighton Students’ Union to improve the learning experience of students across the University.

Each School has at least one School Academic Organiser who represents the views of students from courses belonging to the School at the School Education and Student Experience Committee. As members of the committee they are responsible for the representation of students on issues relating to their academic experience within the School.

Student representatives on University Committees

- Elected annually by the student body in the Spring term as part of the SU Student Leadership Team elections

- Students are represented on a number of University committees including the Academic Board, University Quality and Standards Committee, University Education and Student Experience Committee and Doctoral College Board.

- These committees have the authority to make decisions about academic issues, and student reps as members of the committees have a voice in the formal decision-making process of the University.

- Students are also part of Campus Action Teams which have responsibility for decisions to improve the quality of the student experience on each campus.

More information?

Further information about the roles, training, recruitment and election processes can be found on the Brighton Students’ Union webpages. Being a student representative can provide an opportunity to acquire employability skills to include on your CV.
3  Student reviewers

Student reviewers are full members of panels which approve new courses and review existing courses. Being a student reviewer means you get the opportunity to have a measurable impact on the student experience. The student reviewer is a paid role by the University. Being a student reviewer can help you to develop skills to enhance your employability potential.

Student reviewers require an ability to critically reflect upon the student experience of new and existing courses. Student reviewers are trained and supported and are given a full induction to the University’s quality assurance process.

More information?

More information about the role can be found on the Student Reviewer Handbook page.

Vacancies are posted on the University of Brighton Vacancy service

Further information and an application form can be requested from Nichola Mayer, Engagement and Information (Academic Services) n.mayer@brighton.ac.uk.

To apply for the post, you must be:
- an undergraduate student with a least one year’s experience of studying at the University of Brighton or
- a postgraduate student from any year of study with at least one year’s experience of studying in higher education.

4  Student participation

There are many ways in which students can participate in the University’s quality assurance processes, including:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>QA process</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>validation and periodic review of a course</td>
<td>meeting with the panel ensures that the views and experience of students currently studying on a course are taken into consideration and can lead to enhancement of the course for current and future students</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Academic Health Course reports and action plans</td>
<td>participating in School meetings with Course Leaders to scrutinise annual course reports/action plans ensures that students are able to scrutinise the actions that the Course has taken or proposes to take in response to student evaluation and feedback</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>focus/consultation groups</td>
<td>being part of groups ensures that students can help develop actions from the outcomes of student surveys, suggest solutions and work in partnership with staff to help bring about change</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>QA process</td>
<td>What do students do?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------</td>
<td>---------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>working groups</td>
<td>being part of working groups ensures that students help design and develop University/School proposals and Policy, and that the student perspective is always considered.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

More information?

Your School's Student Engagement Champion, your Course Leader and the SU can direct you to opportunities in your School for being part of quality assurance processes.

How is your feedback is used?

Student feedback gathered through student surveys, student representation and student participation is considered carefully by tutors, course teams and staff in support services in order to improve the quality of courses and the services provided to students.

The outcomes from student surveys are considered at module, course, School and University level as part of the University’s annual Academic Health process. Student survey outcomes are considered at Student Staff Forums with course representation and the progress of actions is regularly reviewed during the year. When courses are periodically reviewed, panels consider how the feedback from students has led to developmental action to enhance courses. Action plans are also prepared by Schools and Support Services and these are regularly reviewed during the year at School Quality and Standards Committees and Department meetings.

How do we tell you how your feedback is used?

Student feedback informs change and improvements to courses and student services.

Information about the actions and improvements that are taken or are planned in response to student feedback is available through a number of channels, including:

- Posters and plasma screens around Schools and campuses
- Student briefing and feedback sessions such as ‘Town Hall’ meetings and induction sessions
- Studentcentral module and course areas (You said We did)
- Student Staff Forums attended by course reps discuss the outcomes of student surveys and actions
- Course and School Academic Organisers provide feedback to students.
